

Soil Triangle

The soil triangle is a standard tool used to measure the type of soil that is found in particular area. Depending on what type of percentage you have a certain soil particle (sand, silt, or clay) can help determine what types of soil may be found.

