

Illness Research Poster

You are going to research a fungal, bacterial, or viral disease that affects humans. The main goal of this project is to gain an understanding as far as how, on a cellular level, the microbe causes us to get sick. We know that cold viruses cause us to get sick, but why? We know that we sometimes get a fever when sick, but why do we?

For your project you will include three headings, but the main focus will be on the contraction (how you actually get sick). Below is a diagram of what we want your poster to look like. Make sure you use proper grammar and that your headings are nice, bold, and easy to read.
